

EARTH DAY PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, As inhabitants of our common earth it is important that we celebrate our global unity and destiny, and

WHEREAS, The observance of EARTH DAY will highlight and focus our attention on our planet, our country, our bioregion and our community and the precious treasure of living things; and

WHEREAS, EARTH DAY is a day celebrated around the globe to remind all of us of the responsibility of each person to preserve and improve the earth and the quality of life in his or her local community.

NOW THEREFORE, I, Nancy Chaney, Mayor of the City of Moscow, Idaho do hereby proclaim April 22, 2008 to be observed and celebrated as in the City of Moscow, a special day to remember Earth's tender seedlings of life and people; a day for planting trees and flowers; a day for cleaning streams, woods and fields; a day for reminding us of how we can all help to preserve the wonderful environment that we enjoy as citizens of Moscow.

I also invite all citizens throughout the Moscow community to join in observing EARTH DAY and the week leading up to it, by taking part in whichever activities and events they deem appropriate to reflect their personal commitment to maintaining the special quality of life that we enjoy as residents of Moscow.

DATED this 20th day of April, 2009
